Farewell Letter

Veda Mektubu

Alanur's life, which she completely depended on Ziya, is turned upside down with the letter. Exactly 30 years later, whether we call it a twist of fate, the infallible justice of the universe or the power of love, the paths of Yıldız and Karlı families cross again. The fate of two opposed families, especially Alanur and Ziya, is now in the hands of their children, Aslı and Mehmet. While love is waiting to be in the right place at the right time, the fate of Aslı and Mehmet unites in the wrong place at the wrong time. Aslı will go to Sorbonne, one of the most prestigious schools in France, and Mehmet will marry Hatice, whom he loves like a sister. Despite their families' objections, they choose to walk this path together. What these two fresh lovers don't know is that the roots of their strong feelings go back much further, 30 years ago. While Mehmet's father Ziya and Aslı's mother Alanur were about to get married, Ziya suddenly disappeared and left Alanur all alone. Now the two former lovers have to sit at the same table, this time as in-laws. Moreover, Seher, who never won Ziya's love despite giving him three children, and Hatice, who was abandoned right before the engagement, and her family will accompany them at that table. In order for Aslı and Mehmet to be able to leave that table every evening, hand in hand and eye to eye, they will have to successfully pass the tests of this group of people who will test their love with more challenging conditions every day. While Hatice's father Nevzat, who is obsessed with money ambition, is undermining the company... Seher, who has a great grudge and jealousy against Alanur, is trying to take all the years of pain out of Aslı... While Hatice, whose dreams of marriage with Mehmet, with whom she grew up together, have been shattered, is burning with the fire of revenge. Every night, the young couple will close the door of the room and try to leave all these quarrels and conflicts outside, to find peace in a room illuminated only by kindness and love. All the characters involved in our story will be tested again by this fire. Either they will burn all together or a brand new hope will sprout from within them...

Because the 45-year-old man has the mind and emotions of a 5-year-old kid. With his toy car, childish jokes, and behaviour, Kadir is like a kid, in an adult costume. He’s the way he is because of the umbilical cord that was wrapped around his neck when he was in his mother’s womb. Kadir was born as a “test”, both for his parents and his child. At least, that’s what Zeynep’s grandpa says to her.

Zeynep dreams big, and she tries to get away from the troubles of her aunt’s house; from her shakedown in a small room in which neither she nor her cousins can fit; from her uncle, who blames them and oppresses her aunt; from her aunt’s enraged exhaustion; from the impossible; and poverty.

She works as a cleaner in the house of influencer Ozan, whose way of life is her ultimate goal. One day, in that house, she meets businesswoman Sitare. Sitare owns an agency and is the boss of a number of social media influencers. And also, Ozan’s secret girlfriend...

Three Sisters

Üç Kız Kardeş

"An instant bestseller in 2018, penned by the acclaimed author İclal Aydın, Three Sisters is now adapted to a television series.

Once upon a time in a beautiful yet mysterious country, there lived three sisters named Türkan, Dönüş, and Derya. As a close-knit family, they would dream of a promising future every night. Perhaps such an upbringing, that was similar to a fairy tale on the pine-scented streets of Ayvalık, had not prepared them for the grim reality of adulthood. Over time, the sisters discover that life and the choices that are accompanied by it are not as easy as they seem. Inconceivable secrets can be hidden even by those who are trusted the most, and horrific illnesses can lead to the resurrection of the past. This leads them to the question: Is there anything in the world that time cannot heal?"
